Fred Falkenberg Stars in Ohio State Championship Matches Held at Cleveland-Alec Dunbar and Lec Johns Having Battle Royal in New York-Other Bowling Gossip.

By "LEN" COLLINS.

The second annual meeting of the Washington City Bowling Association was held at the Palace Bowling Alleys last night, and the only matter of inerest to local bowlers taken up was the appointment of a tournament committee by President Chase. This committee is mposed of all the presidents of the diferent leagues and should prove to be ne of the best steps taken by the city ussociation officials toward swinging the nen into line. Heretofore it has always been the policy of the executive commitee to appoint its tournament committee mainly from the ranks of those who lave volunteered their services,

While their efforts were met with a ertain degree of success, it nevertheless emains a fact that they could not hope accomplish as much as a president of a league, who is constantly in touch with the men of his league. The executive ommittee has set the 18th as the day or closing the entries, and bowlers who have intentions of entering the different events should get themselves together and send in their applications for membership in the city association at the earliest possible date so as to expedite the work of the tournament committee which were held on the Erie alleys in Cleveland, came to a close last night and the scores show that some very igh class bowling was indulged in. Our old friend, Fred Falkenberg, turned off 221, 227, and 211, a total of 659, bowling with the Sands Diamonds, Cleveland's

William Hepburn Russell is a lawyer with offices in this city and Boston. He was asked to-day to give some particulars of the deal now pending, but he de-clared that he had promised to say nothing for publication just yet. He admitted that he held more than 100 shares of stock in the Boston club and had been elected a director, but he refused to discuss the proposed sale of the club to a Boston syndicate.

It was learned from other sources that Mr. Russell is after the Boston club and is slated to become the new president, in which event every attempt will be made to provide a winning team regardless of
